Table of Contents

1.1 Introduction

1.2 Importance of house

1.3 Orientation

1.4 Site selection

1.4.1 Factors to be considered during site selection

1.5 Principles of organizing a house

1.6 House plan

1.6.1 Rooms in a house

1.7 Housing

1.7.1 Housing demand

1.7.2 Types of Residential Houses

Learning Objectives

At the end of this lesson you shall be able to

- Understand the importance of house.
- Know about the orientation of house.
- List the factors to be considered during site selection.
- Understand the principles of organizing a house.
- List the rooms in a house.
- Prepare a house plan.
- Explain the housing demand.
- List the types of residential houses.

1.1 Introduction

Food, shelter and clothes are the basic needs of mankind for a comfortable living. Among these shelter is highly essential. During ancient times, man used to live in dens. As the culture of mankind improved, science and technology also developed. Man utilized this technological development for building his house with all sophistications and facilities.

Ancient Den

U1.indd 2 1/10/2020 1:25:49 PM