shown.

So we proudly show our customer her new product listing. She is pleased but notices that when she makes changes they aren't reflected on the screen until she refreshes the page. She asks if there's a way to make the changes appear automatically. We tell her that there is, and we do that next.