```
END SupportMailbox#process:
```

Now that we see how all the parts fit together, let’s write the real code to store the request for help from the customer (as well as how to test our mailbox with a unit test).