```
headers["Status"] = "301 Moved Permanently" redirect_to("http://my.new.home")
```

Because redirect methods send responses to the browser, the same rules apply as for the rendering methods—you can issue only one per request.

So far, we've been looking at requests and responses in isolation. Rails also provides a number of mechanisms that span requests.