

This seems fairly unprofessional. So our next iteration will be spent making the application more resilient.