Gandhi and felt like a wounded tiger after Rajiv's refusal to review the Indo-Sri Lanka Accord that he, as Prime Minister, had signed with the Sri Lankan President. Swamy said no one in the Congress party had cared to follow up on his information.[1]

Swamy went on to claim that Chief Election Commissioner T.N. Seshan had come to his residence on the morning of 22 May and said that Israel's intelligence outfit Mossad was the real mastermind behind the LTTE's assassination of Rajiv Gandhi. When Swamy had asked Seshan the basis of such a charge, the latter had told him that he would do so only if made the home minister in the government. But that was not going to be possible because the government was functioning only as a caretaker. Even then, chief of the AIADMK, J. Jayalalithaa, knowing of the LTTE's hostility towards the Congress leader, declined to address any public meeting jointly with Rajiv Gandhi, despite both their parties contesting the election in an alliance.[2]

The Ministry of Information and Broadcasting's Press Information Bureau (PIB) issued a release that inter alia said that the Central government, while announcing the formation of the SIT to investigate the assassination, had simultaneously announced a separate one-man Judicial Commission of Inquiry, headed by a sitting judge of the Supreme Court, Justice J.S. Verma, to look into the security lapses that led to the tragic incident.

If anything was certain about the assassination, it was the aspect of the 'security lapse'. A contact from the CBI told Anirudhya that the Madras unit of the agency had registered a fresh case—9/91-SCB (Special Crime Branch) with a DSP-rank officer K. Ragothaman as the investigation officer (IO). Anirudhya did a quick check on the IO's background from his contacts in Madras and learnt that Ragothaman was an officer with a fine track record. A colleague of his from the CBI Madras told him that Ragothaman didn't feel very upbeat about his new high-profile assignment. 'Maybe because he is becoming the IO of a case that will be very difficult to solve as there is absolutely no clue. In such a situation, collection of evidence is next to impossible. Also, the local politics can act as a deterrent,' said the
