Madras-based publishers who printed LTTE material to brainwash the Tamil youth and get them to join the organization. The report had given details of LTTE literature that were pumped into Tamil Nadu to fuel hatred for the Indian government's handling of the Tamil Tigers in Jaffna following the signing of the Indo-Sri Lanka Accord in 1987. Incidentally, a few days ago, Ragothaman's boys had found more than 3,000 copies of a booklet titled The Satanic Forces from a printing press. It was a compilation of articles criticizing the IPKF and India's Sri Lanka policy from July 1987 until March 1990. It had clearly shown the LTTE's hatred of Rajiv Gandhi. By the time the SIT inquired further, the publisher of the booklet had gone underground.[1]

Verma and Ragothaman confronted Ravi Shankar with a copy of The Satanic Forces and asked who was behind its publication. Shankar revealed that one Bhagyanathan was running a printing press called 'BPL Allrounders' in Madras and that he should be able to throw light on the publisher of the booklet. The SIT put Bhagyanathan under surveillance. Learning about this, Anirudhya requested information on Bhagyanathan from his IB contact in Madras. He also wanted Verma to allow him to talk to Haribabu's photojournalist friend Ravi Shankar in that connection. Shankar knew Haribabu and senior photojournalist Subha Sundaram, whose links with the LTTE were no longer a secret. Also, Sundaram had asked Haribabu's father to destroy all LTTE propaganda material left in his house. Since Sundaram never entertained Anirudhya's request for an audience, he thought he would check with Shankar about how the 'brainwashing' was done. But meeting a suspect in custody in a case as sensitive as this one was impossible. Verma had already expressed his helplessness. Anirudhya had thought of taking advantage of the situation when the top bosses were not around, but Verma had not agreed.

After his return from Colombo, Kaarthikeyan had confirmed that the man in the kurta pyjama was 'One-Eyed Sivaraja Master' with many other aliases. This fell in line with what Anirudhya had learnt from his IB contact in Madras. That Raghuvaran—who was involved in the assassination of EPRLF leader K. Padmanabha, was a senior LTTE operative who had lost
