Questions were raised as to whether he had received prior permission in accordance with the RBI policy, which stipulates a 'cooling period of two years', to prevent collusion or conflicts of interest (https://twitter.com/Subytweets/status/1009307892791459840). 'The policy provides that the officers should seek prior permission of the RBI during a period of two years from the date of cessation of their service before taking up such employment. Before granting permission, it is ensured that the position being sought by the retired officer does not bring in any conflict of interest on account of the portfolio held by the officer in the immediate past. In respect of retired senior officials, the decision vests with a high-level committee.' See RBI website (https://www.rbi.org.in)
