step that extinguished 86.9 per cent of the Currency in Circulation, without any clear plan or preparation for remonetizing the system, the Governor and the Board of RBI abdicated their duty to the people of India.

If they did so under pressure from the government, then, as a nation, we should reflect gravely on the dire consequences that occur when the autonomy and independence of critically important institutions like the RBI are eroded.