3. By Registration The Central Government may register as a citizen of India any person (not being an illegal migrant) if he or she belongs to any of the following categories, namely:-

1. a person of Indian origin who is ordinarily resident in India for seven years before making an application for registration;

2. a person of Indian origin who is ordinarily resident in any country or place outside undivided India;

3. a person who is married to a citizen of India and is ordinarily resident in India for seven years before making an application for registration;

4. minor children of persons who are citizens of India;

5. a person of full age and capacity whose parents are registered as citizens of India;

6. a person of full age and capacity who, or either of his/her parents, was earlier citizen of independent India, and is ordinarily resident in India for twelve months immediately before making an application for registration;

7. a person of full age and capacity who has been registered as an overseas citizen of India cardholder for five years, and who is ordinarily resident in India for twelve months before making an application for registration.

A person shall be deemed to be of Indian origin if he or she, or either of their parents, was born in undivided India or in such other territory which became part of India after the August 15, 1947.

All the above categories of persons must take an oath of allegiance before they are registered as citizens of India[6].

4. By Naturalisation The Central Govern ment may grant a certificate of naturalisation to any person (not being an illegal migrant) if he or she possesses the following qualifications:

1. that he/she is not a subject or citizen of any country where citizens of India are prevented from becoming subjects or citizens of that country by naturalisation;

2. that, if he/she is a citizen of any country, they undertake to renounce the citizenship of that country in the event of their application for Indian citizenship being accepted;

3. that he/she has either resided in India or been in the service of a Government in India or partly the one and partly the other, throughout the period of twelve months immediately preceding the date of the application;

4. that during the fourteen years immediately preceding the said period of twelve months, he/she has either resided in India or been in the service of a Government in India, or partly the one and partly the other, for periods amounting in the aggregate to not less than eleven years. However, the Citizenship (Amendment) Act, 2019, has reduced this aggregate period of residence or service of Government in India to not less than five years for the person belonging to Hindu, Sikh, Buddhist, Jain, Parsi or Christian community in Afghanistan, Bangladesh or Pakistan.

5. that he/she is of good character;
