5. His/her emoluments and allowances cannot be diminished during his/her term of office.

In 2018, the Parliament increased the salary of the President from ₹1.50 lakh to ₹5 lakh per month[4a]. Earlier in 2008, the pension of the retired President was increased from ₹3 lakh per annum to 50% of his/her salary per month[5]. In addition, the former Presidents are entitled to furnished residence, phone facilities, car, medical treatment, travel facility, secretarial staff and office expenses upto ₹1,00,000 per annum. The spouse of a deceased President is also entitled to a family pension at the rate of 50% of pension of a retired President, furnished residence, phone facility, car, medical treatment, travel facility, secretarial staff and office expenses upto ₹20,000 per annum.

The President is entitled to a number of privileges and immunities. He/she enjoys personal immunity from legal liability for his/her official acts. During his/her term of office, he/she is immune from any criminal proceedings, even in respect of his/her personal acts. He/she cannot be arrested or imprisoned. However, after giving two months' notice, civil proceedings can be instituted against him/her during his/her term of office in respect of his/her personal acts.

TERM, IMPEACHMENT AND VACANCY

 Term of President's Office

The President holds office for a term of five years from the date on which he/she enters upon his/her office. However, he/she can resign from his/her office at any time by addressing the resignation letter to the Vice-President. Further, he/she can also be removed from the office before completion of his/her term by the process of impeachment.

The President can hold office beyond his/her term of five years until his/her successor assumes charge. He/she is also eligible for re-election to that office. He/she may be elected for any number of terms[6]. However, in USA, a person cannot be elected to the office of the President more than twice.

 Impeachment of President

The President can be removed from office by a process of impeachment for 'violation of the Constitution'. However, the Constitution does not define the meaning of the phrase 'violation of the Constitution'.

The impeachment charges can be initiated by either House of the Parliament. These charges should be signed by one-fourth members of the House (that framed the charges), and a 14 days' notice should be given to the President. After the impeachment resolution is passed by a majority of two-thirds of the total membership of that House, it is sent to the other House, which should investigate the charges. The President has the right to appear and to be represented at such investigation. If the other House also sustains the charges and passes the impeachment resolution by a majority of two-thirds of the total membership, then the President stands removed from his/her office from the date on which the resolution is so passed.

Thus, an impeachment is a quasi-judicial procedure in the Parliament. In this context, two things should be noted: (a) the nominated members of either House of Parliament can participate in the impeachment of the President though they do not participate in his/her election and (b) the elected members of the
