It is also known as two-hour discussion as the time allotted for such a discussion should not exceed two hours. The members of the Parliament can raise such discussions on a matter of urgent public importance. The Speaker can allot two days in a week for such discussions. There is neither a formal motion before the house nor voting. This device has been in existence since 1953.

 Special Mention

A matter which is not a point of order or which cannot be raised during question hour, half-an hour discussion, short duration discussion or under adjournment motion, calling attention notice or under any rule of the House can be raised under the special mention in the Rajya Sabha. Its equivalent procedural device in the Lok Sabha is known as 'Notice (Mention) Under Rule 377'.

 Resolutions

A resolution is a self-contained independent proposal submitted for the approval of the House and drafted in such a way as to be capable of expressing a decision of the House. All resolutions are substantive motions.

The members can move resolutions to draw the attention of the House or the government to matters of general public interest. The discussion on a resolution is strictly relevant to and within the scope of the resolution. A member who has moved a resolution or amendment to a resolution cannot withdraw the same except by leave of the House.

A resolution may have the following objectives:

(i) A declaration of opinion or a reco-mmendation.

(ii) To record either approval or disapproval by the House of an act or policy of the government.

(iii) Convey a message or commend, urge or request an action.

(iv) Call attention to a matter or situation for consideration by the government.

Resolutions are classified into three categories:[16]

1. Private Member's Resolution: It is one that is moved by a private member (other than a minister). It is discussed only on alternate Fridays and in the afternoon sitting.

2. Government Resolution: It is one that is moved by a minister. It is of the following three kinds:

(a) Resolutions approving international treaties, conventions or agreements of which the government is a party.

(b) Resolutions declaring or approving certain policies of the government.

(c) Resolutions approving recommendations of certain committees.

3. Statutory Resolution: It can be moved either by a private member or a minister. It is so called because it is in pursuance of a provision in the Constitution or an Act of Parliament.
