After four decades, the second commission was appointed in 2002 under the chairmanship of Dilip Singh Bhuria. It submitted its report in 2004.

Further, the executive power of the Centre extends to the giving of directions to a state with respect to the drawing up and execution of schemes for the welfare of the STs in the state.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR BCs

1. National Commission for BCs: The National Commission for BCs was set-up in 1993 by an Act of Parliament. Later, the 102nd Amendment Act of 2018 conferred a constitutional status on the commission. For this purpose, the amendment inserted a new Article 338-B in the constitution. Accordingly, the President should set-up a National Commission for the socially and educationally BCs to investigate all matters relating to the constitutional safeguards for the socially and educationally BCs and to report to him/her. The President should place all such reports before the Parliament, along with the action taken memorandum.

2. Appointment of a Commission to Investigate the Conditions of BCs: The President may appoint a commission to investigate the conditions of socially and educationally backward classes and to recommend the steps to improve their condition. The report of the commission is to be placed before the Parliament, along with action taken memorandum.

Under the above provision, the President has appointed two commissions so far. The first backward classes commission was appointed in 1953 under the chairmanship of Kaka Kalelkar. It submitted its report in 1955. But, no action was taken on it as the recommendations were considered to be too vague and impractical and also there was a sharp division among the members on the criterion of backwardness.

The second Backward Classes Commission was appointed in 1979 with B.P. Mandal as chairman. It submitted its report in 1980. Its recommendations were also lying unattended till 1990 when the V.P. Singh Government declared reservation of 27 percent government jobs for the OBCs.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR ANGLO-INDIANS

1. Special Representation for Anglo-Indians in Legislatures: Before 2020, the President nominated two members from the Anglo-Indian community to the Lok Sabha, if the community was not adequately represented. Similarly, before 2020, the governor of a state also nominated one member from the Anglo-Indian community to the State Legislature Assembly, if the community was not adequately represented.

Originally, this provision of special representation was to operate for ten years (i.e., upto 1960) only. But, this duration has been extended continuously since then by ten years each time. The last extension upto 2020 was made by the 95th Amendment Act, 2009. However, the 104th Amendment Act, 2019, has not extended further the operation of this provision. In other words, the Amendment discontinued this provision of special representation of the Anglo-Indian community in the Legislatures (Lok Sabha and Assembly) by nomination. Consequently, this provision ceased to have effect on the 25th January, 2020.

2. Special Provision in Services and Educational Grants for Anglo-Indians: Before independence, certain posts were reserved for the Anglo-Indians in the railway, customs, postal and telegraph services of the Union. Similarly, the Anglo-Indian educational institutions were given certain
