make our auction terms more business-like, getting world-class, cutting-age digital infrastructure constructed in India would cost the government nothing.