was administered to deal with COVID-19, the renewed expansion of flow of debt resources from the Centre to the states; and the conditionalities being imposed on raising of market borrowing by states. India is closer to a fiscal union today than ever before.