Table 3.1 Historical development of second-gene

Period/Year	Drone model/system	Developer/country	Technological features	Prima applic
1950s	Ryan Firebee Series	Ryan Aeronautical (United States)	Jet-powered target and reconnaissance drone; improved radio control and endurance.	Recon trainin target simula
1960s-1970s	Ryan Model 147 "Lightning Bug"	US Air Force/Ryan Aeronautical (United States)	High-altitude reconnaissance; onboard cameras; long-range communication link.	Real-ti surveil during Vietna
1970s-1980s	IAI Scout	Israel Aerospace Industries (Israel)	Equipped with live video transmission, telemetry, and electronic warfare systems.	Battlef reconn and int
1986	RQ-2 Pioneer	US Navy and Marine Corps (United States)	GPS-assisted navigation, real-time video feed, and compact airframe.	Artille spottin reconn and co surveil
1990	CL-289	Dornier (Germany) and Canadair (Canada)	Jet-powered, GPS navigation, and terrain-following radar.	Tactica battlef surveil mappi