Table 2.2 Historical development of first-generation drone

Year/period	Drone/ system name	Developer/ country	Technological features	Purpose/ application	S c
1916	Aerial Target	A. M. Low (United Kingdom)	Early radio-controlled powered aircraft; fixed-wing design.	Experimental air defense drone intended to intercept enemy zeppelins.	E a r c f e r f
1917	Ruston Proctor Aerial Target	Ruston Proctor Aircraft Co. under A. M. Low (United Kingdom)	Monoplane with radio control system and piston engine propulsion.	Pilotless aircraft for military experimentation.	C e s c c u f
1918	Kettering Bug	Charles F. Kettering (United States)	Mechanical pre-programed control using engine revolution counters.	Unmanned aerial torpedo designed to deliver explosives.	I a f p c t
1935	Queen Bee	De Havilland Aircraft	Radio-controlled biplane based	Anti-aircraft gunnery training	E c a