or the other, you can use the vertical alignment commands to adjust the position of the content within the cell.

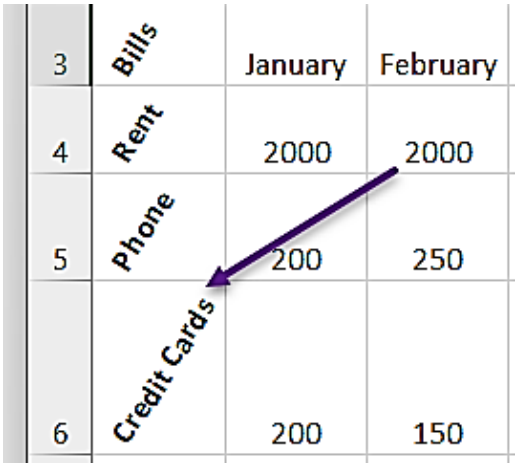

Text Orientation

An Excel cell text orientation refers to the angle at which the content of a cell is displayed.

By default, when you enter data into a cell, it is oriented horizontally, but you can change it to vertical or diagonal.

This feature may be helpful when you want to fit more information into an acceptable amount of cell space.

Before After

To alter the text orientation of a cell or a range of cells in Excel, click the drop-down arrow near the text orientation icon to view the available options.