Although the cell content may appear smaller than the default font size, this will ensure all the text is visible within the cell's boundaries.