SIMPLE CELL REFERENCE

The simplest way to refer to a cell is to write the name of the cell after an equal sign.

For example, =C6 refers to the value within cell C6, as shown in the illustration below.

So, if you refer to the cell C6 by entering =C6 in another cell, the content of cell C6 will automatically appear without you typing it in.

