REFERRING TO A CELL RANGE

An Excel cell range refers to a group of two or more cells that have been selected.

When you single-click on a particular column header, the entire column will be selected as a range.

The same happens when you click on a row header.