

The result will appear in the selected cell. With practice, you can become proficient in using a variety of Excel functions.