CHOOSING A FORMULA IN THE FORMULA TAB

To quickly access a function you are familiar with in Excel, you can use the Formula tab to navigate to the group containing that function and select it from the list of functions within that group.

To do this, go to the Formulas tab and click on the appropriate group. This will display a sub-menu with a list of functions within that group. Click on the function you want to insert into the active cell.

If you do not see the group containing the function you want to use on the Formulas tab, click on the More Functions option to access a broader range of functions.
