

The illustration above shows that the SUM function was used in cell N4.

However, it is also necessary to calculate the totals in the Phone row down to the Candy row. The function in cell N4 can be copied and pasted into these cells due to relative referencing. Relative referencing serves the same purpose for functions as it does for formulas.

Select the cell with the function you want to copy and press Ctrl + C.
