=MODE(C3:C10)

The formula must be entered into the cell (F5) you want the result to appear

The final result will be 150. This is the most occurring Windspeed from the data collected.

The MODE function can also take more than one cell range as an argument so that you can analyze more than one range simultaneously. But the MODE function will give an error if multiple numbers have the same frequency in the given range.