

In simple terms, the formula means to find the F5 value in the range B3 to B9, and return a corresponding value from the range C3 to C9 in the same row.

No need to use column numbers, sorting, or any other confusing features of the Vlookup function; it just works straightforwardly.

A text value can also be returned if the lookup value is not found instead of showing an error message.

The formula will then be written as:

=XLOOKUP(F5,B3:B9,C3:C9,"Not Available")
