

The intersection between a column header and a row header gives a cell its identity.

As illustrated above, the active cell is on column B, row 3.

So, the active cell is B3.

You can also identify a cell address using the Name Box on te formula bar.

