1. Bar charts or Column charts are similar but differ in orientation. Bar charts are horizontal, while column charts are vertical. Both are great for comparing different values in a single category, such as sales figures for different country.

1. Pie charts help show the proportions of a whole. They are often used in business presentations to show market share or budget breakdowns.