

You have to think about which chart elements you really need and how to use them effectively to make a clear and informative chart.

Chart Filters

Chart Filters are Excel features that allow you to exclude specific data elements from a chart. This means that you can choose which data to display and which to hide in your chart. This is really helpful when you have a large amount of data but simply wish to display specific information.

First, you choose the chart that you want to filter. Then, click the "Filter" icon that appears next to the chart.
