

Depending on the version of Excel you are using. You need to carry out basic settings, such as the number of copies to print, the paper size you want to print on, which pages to print, and the orientation of the printed document.

