SAVING AN EXCEL DOCUMENT

Start by creating a new blank workbook and reviewing the lessons we have covered so far.

Familiarize yourself with the Excel interface, and then be sure to save the workbook. It's important to save your workbook frequently to avoid losing any data.

Go to the File tab, scroll to the Save button, and click on it.

In case you are using the most recent version of Excel, you will be directed to the Save As command option, which provides you with three choices to choose from.
