
This will alter the calculation for that column and display the percentage values instead of the initial sales data.