ENTERING AND EDITING DATA

One of the fundamental tasks you'll need to accomplish when working with Excel is inputting and modifying data. To do so, you'll first need to create a new workbook or open an existing one.

Click on the Blank Workbook button on the excel start screen.

In Excel, when you initiate a new blank workbook, the active cell is automatically positioned in the first row and first column, which is designated as cell A1.

