

The preview gives you an idea of the data that will appear in each cell. The dragging cursor indicates the position of the mouse cursor. Once you release the mouse button, the cells get filled automatically.