10. Chāndogya Upaniṣad, IV. iv. 1-5. Jābāla went to learn Brahma-vidyā (knowledge of Brahman) from a guru who asked him the name of his father. He said he did not know but would ask his mother. His mother told him that she herself did not know because in her youth she slept with many young men. He told this to the ṛṣi, whereupon the latter said that he was fully entitled to the highest wisdom because few men and women dare tell the full truth.
