removing columns, and applying formatting to either the entire table or specific cells.

USEFUL FEATURES

Among the most appreciated and frequently used features of Excel tables, those listed on the following pages undoubtedly stand out:

- Dynamic Range
  Excel tables automatically expand or contract when data is added or removed, eliminating the need for manual adjustment of the range.
- Integrated formatting
  Tables have integrated, automatic formatting that enhances the readability and comprehension of the data within them. This includes features such as bold headings and automatic colour coding.
- Sorting and filtering
  Undoubtedly, among the most useful features are sorting and filtering, which streamline the process of organizing and sifting through large volumes of data with just a few clicks.
