Visual Basic. Given that many commands have associated hotkeys, the editor features a special menu: simply right-click to access a shortcut menu containing the most frequently used commands.

- Toolbar
  The standard toolbar by default is located directly below the menu bar and can be customized or moved at any time.
  To do so, simply go to the View tab and select the item VB Toolbars.

- Project Window
  The project window shows a tree diagram in which you can view all open workbooks in Excel, including hidden workbooks and add-ons.
  By double-clicking on these items, you can expand or contract them. If the project window is not visible, you must press Ctrl+R. Instead, to hide the project window, simply click the close button (the X) on the title.
