personnel administration, is to ensure effective utilization of human resources in pursuit of organizational goals. The personnel administration departments should design and establish an effective working relationship among all the members of an organization by division of organizational tasks into jobs, defining clearly the responsibility and authority for each job and its relation with other jobs in the organization. Personnel administration must try to enthuse among the employees feelings of commitment, involvement and loyalty to the organization. The aim is to create cordial relations among the employees and do away with frictional situations arising out of personal jealousies, rivalries and prejudices. Personnel administration also has to curb unfavorable practices like favoritism and nepotism in an organization.

6.3.1 Civil Services – Meaning and Features

Advantages of having an independent, permanent and impartial civil service are as follows:

i) A credible recruitment process through an impartial agency provides a defense against such abuse.

ii) A permanent civil service provides continuity and develops expertise as well as institutional memory for effective policy making.

iii) A permanent and impartial civil service is more likely to assess the long-term social payoffs of any policy whereas the political executive may have a tendency to look for short term political gain.

iv) A permanent civil service helps to ensure uniformity in public administration and also acts as a unifying force particularly in vast and culturally diverse nations.

v) A permanent civil service like any other reputable profession is likely to evolve over time an ethical basis for its functioning.

6.3.2 All India Services, Central Services and State Services

A unique feature of the Indian Administration System, is the creation of certain services common to both - the Centre and the States, namely, the All India Services. These are composed of officers who are in the exclusive employment of neither Centre nor the States, and may at any time be at the disposal of either. The officers of these Services are recruited on an all-India basis with common qualifications and uniform scales of pay, and notwithstanding their division among the States, each of them forms a single service with a common status and a common standard of rights and remuneration.

Like other federal polities, the Centre and the constituent states, under the Indian
