Unit 3 Executive

Learning Objectives

ZQCDLB

- To understand the Republican form of State
- To gain knowledge of the Constitutional position of the President and Vice - President
- To comprehend the election procedures for the offices of the President and Vice – President
- To analyse the powers and functions of the President and Vice - President
- To understand the Parlimentary type of executive
- To know the characteristics of the State executive
- To comprehend the role of Governer in State administration
- To discuss the role of Chief Minister

3.1 Introduction

Form of the State

The Union Executive

- The President of India
- The Vice-President of India
- The Council of Ministers and the Cabinet, Headed By the Prime Minister

The preamble of the constitution of India, Declares India a Sovereign Socialist Secular Democratic Republic. Unlike England where a hereditary monarch, either a Queen or a king is the head of the State, India has an elected President as head of the State with a fixed tenure of office. The President is the supreme head of all the constitutional wings of the State, i.e the legislature. Executive, Judiciary and Armed Forces. The President supervises their functions and ensures adherence to constitutional provisions by theses bodies. The President represents the entire nation and upholds the constitution in every sphere of State's activity. But unlike the President of the USA, where the President of the republic wields de-facto (real, functional) executive powers, the President of Indian Republic is not vested with direct executive responsibilities. Such direct and real

12th_Political Science_Unit_3.indd 42 1/30/2020 3:21:25 PM