

Looking good! The button now matches the system UI and feels at home for Android users.

Up next, you'll make the button text dynamic so you can use it for more than simply signing in. Think: an Add button on the hikes index page to add a new hike and a Save button when editing a hike to submit the form.