

Click Next and choose a location on your machine to store the project. I recommend a directory next to the Rails code named `ios`. Finally, click Create.

Ensure a simulator is selected as the run destination at the top of Xcode to the right of HikingJournal. If your iPhone is plugged in or nearby, you might see that selected instead.