Create.

When the signed bundle finishes generating, a small dialog will appear in the bottom right of the screen in Android Studio. Click it to expand it, and then click the “locate” link to open the containing folder.

With your signed bundle in hand, you can upload it to the Play Console.

Upload the Signed Bundle to the Play Console

Sign in to the Play Console[70] and select your app. From the sidebar on the left, navigate to Test and release → Testing → Internal testing. Click “Create new release” in the upper right.