

Copy the contents of this JSON file to your Rails credentials under the `fcm` key. Remember, to edit your credentials for the development environment, run the following from the `rails` directory: `bin/rails credentials:edit --environment development`.

As you copy this over, make sure to wrap the values for `private_key` and `client_id` in double quotes and put them on a single line. For reference, here's what my credentials file looks like (with some omitted private pieces replaced with three periods—`...`).
