

Light mode? From a developer?! I know, silly me, right? But for some reason, I like the way it looks. It also makes the screenshots in this book appear a lot cleaner!

Detaching the Android emulator from Android Studio, my other IDE preference, lets it run in its own window, like the iOS simulator. Search for “emulator” in the Settings search bar, and uncheck “Launch in the Running Devices tool window.” Restart Android Studio for this to take effect.

OK, back to Hotwire Native.