Many of the best begs and the bravest of Babur's men had perished in the battle. Ibrahim Tarkhān, Ibrahim Saru, and Ibrahim Jani were among the dead begs. Others who perished were Haidar-i-Qasim's eldest son, Abu'l Qasim Kohbur, Khudai Birdi Tughchi, and Khalil, Tambal's younger brother. Many of Babur's men had fled in various directions. Muhammad Mazid Tarkhān went towards Qunduz, Khusrau Shah to Hisar, Karim-dad-i-Khudai-birdi Turkman, Janaka Kukulddsh, and Mulla Baba of Pashaghar got away to Aūrā-tīpā. Mulla Baba had been there with Babur not in service but as a guest and had to run away seeking refuge for his life.
