Once Babur was back from the raids, Qūj Beg, Faqīr-i-'alī, Karīm-dād and Bābā Chuhra were conspiring to desert him. Babur received intel on the conspiracy and sent people to catch a duo that was found just below Astarghach. Their rebellious words were reported to Babur which were no different from what they spoke during the lifetime of Jahāngīr Mirza.[51]

Babur ordered their execution amid the bazaar. Accordingly, they were captured, tied by rope and taken to public places. They were just about to be hanged when Khalifa came with Qāsim Beg's message. He had appealed to Babur to pardon them for their offences. Maintaining a sense of respect for Qāsim, Babur let them go away with the act of being hung to death yet ordered them to be kept in jail.

Now there was news about Khusrau Shāh's retainers from Ḥiṣār and Qūndūz. They joined hands with the headmen of the Moghūls, Chilma, 'Alī Sayyid, Sakma, Sher-qulī and Aīkū-sālam. They were also joined by Khusrau Shāh's favourite Chaghatāī retainers under Sulṭān 'Alī chuhra and Khudabakhsh, along with 3000 brave Turkmān soldiers led by Sīūndūk and Shāh Naẓar.[52] A mutiny was raised against Babur. They had congregated in front of Khwāja Riwāj, right from the Sūng-qūrghān meadow to the Chālāk. 'Abdu'r-razzāq Mīrzā, too joined them while coming from Nīng-nahār.[53]

It is interesting to note that Babur was apprised about the matter earlier, too. Muḥibb-i-'alī, the armourer, had passed on the message of this assembly to Khalifa and Mullā Bābā twice, and on both occasions, a hint was given to Babur. But Babur ignored it, thinking the matter to be implausible. He gave no attention.

One fine night around night-time prayer, Babur was seated in the audience hall of the Chār-bāgh. Mūsa Khwāja came running and whispered in his ear, 'The Moghūls are really rebelling! We do not know for certain whether they have got 'Abdu'r-razzāq to join them. They have not settled to rise to-night.'

The news had left Babur badly disturbed. He went running towards the harems in the Yūrūnchqa-garden and the Bāgh-i-khilwat. Babur saw a page, servitor and messenger nearing them. He was assured of a safe environment there and moved away. Babur, accompanied by the chief slave, went towards the town and along the trench. Babur went riding to the Iron Gate where Khwāja Muḥammad 'Alī[54] met him while coming by the bazaar road from the opposite direction.
