captivating cover design added invaluable depth and allure to its overall appeal.

The RCS fellowship provided by Asha Jadeja ji and the Motwani Foundation was instrumental in facilitating extensive research, including my foray into Persian studies, enriching the depth and authenticity of this historical narrative.

Finally, to every individual who engaged with my columns, articles and Twitter threads, I extend profound gratitude. Your continuous support and encouragement have served as a constant motivator, urging me to evolve and deliver my best work.

This book stands as a testament to the collective efforts and unwavering support of these remarkable individuals. I am profoundly grateful for their invaluable contributions in shaping this narrative, and their influence will forever resonate within these pages.