because India had to draw on vast quantities of silver under the lend-lease aid given by the United States during the Second World War.