from holding the office of a Deputy Governor or Governor. In any case, except the first Governor, Sir Osborne Arkell Smith, no other Governor has started his career as a commercial banker.[19] It is to Smith's short and controversial tenure that we now turn.