7 Only Europeans could become officers and the difference in salary between them and the Indians who languished in the lower echelons was enormous. For example, the Secretary and Treasurer of the Bank of Bombay was given a salary of ₹2,000 per month while an Indian earned ₹125 per month in the highest rank he could aspire to—that of a head clerk. An apprentice Indian clerk received no pay, but a fresh European recruit took home ₹250 per month.
